

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

- The invention enables approval decision without a long waiting time of the approval requester even when the approval decider is absent
- 5 or busy. A client terminal prepares an approval request, and the prepared approval request is stored in an approval request storage portion of a request server. Also an approval service set by the approval decider is stored in a service server.
- 10 Then the approval service matching the approval request stored in the request server is searched from the approval service server, and the approval decision for the approval request is executed utilizing the searched approval service.

10023871.12401